Seabreeze and Daytona Beach.

MRS. H. A. BERNARD, Editor.

Seabreeze, Dec. 18—Some two months ago C. A. Ballough sold to the Christianity Fruit Company his fine crop of oranges on the trees. Last Saturday their agent was here and this big output of fruit was being gathered and packed for shipment.

C. C. Gillett is building a commodious garage for Walter Gamble on the southeast corner of his home property on the Halifax. Mr. Gillett has the contract for building three other garages, and from present appearances we opine an automobile epidemic this winter yet greater than has ever struck our city before.

Mrs. Alice M. Stanley, of New Britain, Conn., has leased Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ballough's handsome home of the river front for the season. Mr. Ballough and family will occupy their small cottage on Valley street which is being improved by the addition of a kitchen and other minor changes.

Mr. Maugh's and family are here from Sharon Springs, N. Y., for the winter and are occupying the west apartment of one of the Clarendon cottages on Ocean Boulevard. Mr. Maugh's and wife will be in charge of the electric and sea baths at the Clarendon as usual.

G. D. Boulton, wife and daughter, arrived from the north last week, and have leased H. C. Buckland's home on Valley street for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Buckland will occupy part of Mrs. W. A. Baggett's cottage for the present.

E. B. Case and his sister, Miss Case, whose expected arrival from Ohio was noted in the last peninsula budget, are guests of the Glenwood.

No recent improvement on Ocean Boulevard has had as marked effect in beautifying this street as the work done on Isena Park and on the Wilkinson and Potter-Buell lots in bringing them up to street level and grassing them.

Jamie McConnell, who is taking a course at the University of Virginia, will spend the holidays with his mother, Mrs. S. R. McConnell.

Mr. and Mrs. McClanahan arrived last week from Missouri where they have been visiting with their son and wife, and are domiciled at their home on Valley street.

The special election for mayor, which took place Tuesday, Dec. 10th, resulted in the election of Dr. E. L. Potter, who received 25 of the 28 votes cast.

The Christmas exercises for the children of Glenview Sunday School will take place at the church, Dec. 22nd. The entertainment will consist of addresses by Drs. Marsh and Leland and music and recitations by the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook and two children arrived the forepart of last week and have taken the second floor apartments of the Smith apartment house on Grandview avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Ball arrived at the Colonades some ten days ago, long before which time the hustling manager, Mr. Caslow, had put the entire building in readiness for the winter season. Although the hotel will not open until January, the following friends came south in party with Mr. and Mrs. Ball and will be season guests: Mrs. Clara M. McConnell, Miss Frances Patriquin, Mrs. E. B. Batchelder, Newburyport, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Stanley, Winthrop, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fogg arrived from New York last week and will spend the winter at their home on Halifax avenue.

The work of shelling the grounds of the new clubhouse was completed last Saturday. Work on the tennis courts and building is going forward rapidly and the building is expected to be ready to open to the public by January first, the ladies committee having completed their selection of interior furnishings. The animal den, with numerous valuable additions, will be removed to the baseball grounds about the same time. The infield of the grounds is being leveled to a proper amount of clay. Work on the grandstand, which is 100 feet long, is progressing nicely. In addition to the twelve rows of seats there will be a long line of bleachers and an additional line of bleachers for colored people. The baseball players will be composed of National League men who will be on Howard S. Kerner and Sam'l. J. Smyth, of Great Barrington, Mass., registered at the Seaside Inn Tuesday.

Artie Stewart will arrive home from Winter Park Saturday for the holidays and will receive a warm welcome by his numerous friends of the younger society set.

Butler, Wilson & Co., Tuesday leased the Coquina Lodge on Ocean avenue to Mrs. Geo. H. Ward, of West Liberty, Iowa. Mrs. Ward's family consists of her sister, Mrs. Bingham and nephew, Frank Petlock.

The subject of the discourse at the M. E. church Sunday morning will be "Preparation of the World for the Coming of the Redeemer—the Uniting Forces."

Mrs. Roberts, Dr. VanValzah's sister, is expected to arrive this week and spend the Christmas holiday here. Also Miss Lois VanValzah, who is attending school in Charleston, S. C., will spend the mid-winter vacation with her family.

Lettie Johnson has the contract and has now well under construction a 40x40 two-story building uniting the two properties recently purchased by Thomas Keating on Ocean avenue, into a hotel building with an accommodation of 25 sleeping rooms. A sizeable dining room and parlor, the first 24x40 feet and the latter 25x25 feet, will be attractive features of the new hotel. Lumber has also been ordered for a maple wood floor for the dance hall of the Keating Casino.

A few nights after Mrs. Parsons' arrival at the parsonage week before last the friends and members of the M. E. Church gave Mr. and Mrs. Parsons an informal reception and welcome, which was the occasion of a pleasant social evening. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons are looking forward to the home coming of their son, Arthur, who has been attending the DePauw University of Green Castle, Ind. It is probable that he will enter Stetson after the holidays.

Ormond.

Ormond, Dec. 18—Among the new arrivals is the Bliss family, of Worcester, Mass., who have the new Wetherby cottage.

The Bazaar and Handkerchief Sale for the benefit of the organ fund was a great success.

Mrs. Ellen Pinkerton, while decorating the V. I. A. rooms, in stepping from a table to a chair slipped and struck her side, causing a very bad sprain. She is confined to the house.

We learn this morning that F. S. Hall, who went to the hospital at St. Augustine to be operated on last Saturday, has just passed away.

D. G. Spaulding, of Pennsylvania, is in the Frank Colby cottage. He spent two winters in Ormond three or four years ago and was so well pleased with the East Coast that he has returned.

Frank Mason met with quite a serious fall from a ladder while making repairs on his house.

Port Orange.

Port Orange, Dec. 18—While Henry Jones' children were playing at the house, pumping off the veranda, their second boy fell and broke his arm. He is getting along very well under the care of Dr. DuBois.

Louis Furlow and his bride arrived Thursday and the same evening some of the young people got up a chicken pillow which was cooked and eaten on the River Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Knappe gave a progressive chaire party in honor of their eldest son, Paul, who is visiting them. There were five tables and the evening was very much enjoyed. During an intermission in the games delicate refreshments were served.

Dr. Boi's mother and sister arrived Saturday from New York and Mrs. Brohm, her daughter and baby arrived from Chicago Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt and family and Mr. Haall came from Long Island in Mr. Hunt's fine launch. They enjoyed the trip very much. Mr. Hunt last year bought the Smith place on the peninsula opposite Port Orange.

Mr. Peter, the Oak Hill sawmill proprietor, was in town Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. Wilder will hold divine service in Grace Church Christmas afternoon at three o'clock.

Miss Mary Fair came home from Stetson University Tuesday to spend the holidays with her parents.

Holly Hill.

Holly Hill, Dec. 19—The meeting night of the Social Sing has been changed from Wednesday to Friday night.

Messrs. Blitch and Hardin are picking and packing oranges for Mrs. Vining, of Ormond.

Rev. D. H. Rutter was present Sunday but was unable to preach because of hoarseness. He was presented with a small purse as a Christmas offering and expressive of appreciation of his work here.

L. M. Drake made a business trip to St. Augustine last Friday.

Mrs. C. S. Harris left for Tallahassee last Friday, called there by the serious illness of her father, Dr. W. H. Carter.

Mrs. E. G. Merkel entertained a few friends from Daytona and this place at dinner Wednesday evening.

F. A. Mann came down from Seabreeze Saturday and returned Sunday afternoon accompanied by his grandson, Paul Merkel.

Mrs. J. P. Turner, of New Smyrna, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Carter Saturday and Sunday.

C. Kost and family of Daytona, are occupying T. Wetherill's cottage for the winter.

Willie Wingate was sweet sixteen Tuesday and V. C. Murphy, his step-father, having a birthday Thursday compromise was affected and both anniversaries celebrated last night.

Mrs. H. A. Carter gave a birthday party Tuesday afternoon for her granddaughter, Zilpah A. Harris, in celebration of the latter's twelfth birthday.

Mrs. M. Conant and daughter, Miss May, of La Crosse, Wis., were with Mr. and Mrs. Edmondson from Friday until Sunday afternoon. They expect to spend the winter in Daytona.

H. D. Fluhart returned Tuesday from Columbus, Ohio. During the summer Mr. Fluhart made a trip to Paris and is said to have collected a very fine exhibit of pictures which he brought home with him.

The Union Sunday School Christmas entertainment will be held Saturday evening.

Criminal Court.

Criminal Court met on Tuesday and was in session all last week and over into this week. County Solicitor Perkins filed thirty-four informations, which is almost a record breaker for the court. The informations filed, together with the disposition of cases, follows:

Adolphus Berry, aggravated assault; plea of guilty; fined $100 or six months. Same party also pleaded guilty to the illegal sale of liquor, and was fined $300 or six months on this charge.

Wes Johnson, gambling; pleaded guilty; fined $.

Death of Mrs. M. H. Peck.

Mrs. Mary Jane Peck, wife of Myron H. Peck, died very suddenly Monday morning of heart failure.

Mrs. Peck had only returned last week with her husband from Jacksonville, where they had been visiting a daughter and where she had contracted a severe cold. She had sufficiently recovered, however, to help and about, when attacked by the sudden illness which proved fatal. Mr. Peck was the only one with her at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Peck were among the earliest of Daytona's settlers and Mrs. Peck had for years been identified with the Congregational Church, its various organizations and other associations.

Mrs. Peck, who was 77 years of age, is survived by her husband and five children, W. H. Peck and Mrs. B. Foster, of this city; D. S. Peck, Haywood, Wis.; Mrs. Laura Durkee, DeForest, Wis.; and Mrs. F. W. Anson, Jacksonville. Mr. and Mrs. Peck were married at Albany, N. Y., in 1853 and came to Daytona in the fall of 1881.

Funeral services were held at the residence, corner Beach street and Loomis avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. B. F. March officiating, and the interment was at Pinewood Cemetery.

BUTTER BUTTER BUTTER

Good Butter is a Specialty with S. W. CARROLL.

The following letter was received by Dr. S. W. Carroll and should be of interest to housewives, coming as it does from an authority in the manufacture of pure butter, oleomargarine and renovated butter in the most important manufacturing butter centers in the country. It reads thus:

"Replying to your inquiry in regard to the advisability of handling oleomargarine in connection with your high grade pure Elgin butter, would say that your trade seems to demand the very best grades of butter obtainable and I believe oleo would only confuse your trade. While oleo is really purer, sweeter and cleaner than some cheap butter, I would suggest that you keep only the purest fancy Elgin that you have always sold, and I am convinced that no one would object to paying 38 to 40 cents for that grade, rather than pay 25 cents for an inferior article. There are a few unscrupulous dealers who go among the small retail stores north, through the summer, who buy butter from the farmers in June, July and August. This butter is thrown into old hard barrels, where it remains, if not sold quickly, until it gets not only rancid, but full of flies and sometimes maggots; then sold for 8 to 10 cents per pound. They buy it up and ship it to some plant where it is renovated by heating and strained through fine sieves to get out all flies and vermin. It is then put into large vats with milk saturated with benzoate of soda, worked until the water is all out, put into tubs, then into cold storage until winter, when butter commands a high price. Then it is shipped out to the trade as pure, clean, fresh butter. And I must say it is hard to detect and having been chemically treated is free from taint or rancidity. But if the consumer could only see that butter before it went through the renovating process, they would never buy a pound of cheap butter again.

I have been in the butter business for the past eight years and know whereof I speak. All of my butter comes from the center of the butter-making districts and is not more than a week old when received and selected by us, and is as pure as the Gold Medal creamery or dollar a pound butter served at the Waldorf-Astoria and other high class hotels and restaurants where fancy quality is always demanded. Really it is no better than the high grade you handle, except that it is fresh from the churn and shipped by express every day to destination on contract.

Now, Dr. Carroll, in conclusion. If you decide to handle Oleomargarine, get the best, and for the good of your trade do not handle renovated or cheap butter. Stick to the old ship, the people will appreciate the fact that if your butter is a little high, it is pure and fresh. The retail price is 35 cents a pound in Chicago, St. Louis and other places for the same grade of goods you carry."
